H_2O WALK FOR WATER

Climate Change is making the seasonal rains in Ethiopia less and less dependable causing acute water shortages. Due to lack of adequate irrigation, as the dry seasons approach, any surface water just evaporates away causing months of desperate water shortages. Local women and children have to walk literally miles to fill up water containers with fresh drinking water. Funds raised through H_2O Walk for Water will help fund our long term sustainable Water Development Project 2010 which will helplocal people address these water shortages in our project areas. Please help us help them.
